Here, in the column, ssc_p in the above table, based on the Lesser and Greater range [37.95,98.35], there are no outliers while considering Minimum and Maximum value in the dataset for ssc_p column.

In the column, hsc_p based on the Lesser and Greater range [42.75,91.15], while considering Minimum and Maximum value in the dataset for hsc_p column, 37 and 97.7 are outliers.

In the column, degree_p, based on the Lesser and Greater range [44.5,88.5], while considering Minimum and Maximum value in the dataset for degree_p column, 98 is an outlier.

In the column, etest_p, based on the Lesser and Greater range [24.75,118.75], there are no outliers while considering Minimum and Maximum value in the dataset for etest_p column.

In the column, mba_p, based on the Lesser and Greater range [45.48,78.72], there are no outliers while considering Minimum and Maximum value in the dataset for mba_p column.

In the column, salary, based on the Lesser and Greater range [150000,390000], while considering Minimum and Maximum value in the dataset for salary column, 940000 is an outlier.
